3. Personal data about other parties

If you provide personal data about other people - such as names and contact details of advisors and proxies - you must be sure that they are in agreement and that you are allowed to provide such information to us. In addition, you must refer them to this privacy policy when you provide us with their information.

4. Your rights

You have the following general rights:

- You have the right to request access to, rectification or erasure of your personal data.
- You also have the right to have the processing of your personal data restricted.
- If the processing of your personal data is based on your consent, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. Your withdrawal will not affect the lawfulness of the processing carried out prior to your withdrawal of consent. You can withdraw your consent and exercise your rights as set out below.
- You have the right to receive the personal data that you have provided yourself in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format (data portability).
- You can always lodge a complaint with a data protection supervisory authority, e.g. the Danish Data Protection Agency.

In addition, you have the right to object to our processing of your personal data in the following cases:

- If our processing of your personal data is based on Article 6(1)(e) of the General Data Protection Regulation (public interest or exercise of official authority) or Article 6(1)(f) (legitimate interests), as described above under the legal basis for processing, you have the right at any time to object to such processing for reasons related to your situation.
- Similarly, you have an unconditional right to object to our processing of your personal data if we process your information for direct marketing purposes.

You can exercise your rights by sending an email to: agm@mthh.dk.

There may be conditions or limitations to these rights. Therefore, it is not certain that you, for example, have the right to have your personal data deleted in the specific case - this depends on the specific circumstances related to the processing activities.

If you wish to contact MT Højgaard Holding A/S regarding our processing of your personal data, you are always welcome to contact us via the above contact details.
